MARINE ARTISANS LIABILITY INSURANCE

AN RLI MARINE WATERCRAFT REPAIRERS LIABILITY POLICY IS COVERAGE YOUR CLIENTS NEED TO PLY THEIR TRADE

Marine artisans and commercial brown subcontractors are essential in keeping the operations of any boat owner, marina, boatyard and/or shipyard running. Whether hired by the boat owner or the yard, and whether the repairs or maintenance are performed in their own personal mooring location, in a third party yard or dockside at a marina, these recreational and commercial vessel repair or maintenance trades have specific insurance needs.

As facilities become more aware of their legal liability and the importance of protecting their own financial assets, they have begun to require verification of certain coverage and limits from any subcontractor to gain entry to their yard to perform work. If they haven't asked already, they soon will, as in many cases, a shipyard, boatyard and a marina's liability insurance policy excludes independent contractors, subcontractors and artisans working on their premises. RLI encourages you to recognize the interdependency of the marina owner and independent artisan and its effect on liability exposures and potential gaps in coverage.

WATERCRAFT REPAIRER LIABILITY COVERAGE

Not all marine repair operations are created equal. Just as each of them is selected because they are uniquely qualified in their respective trade, the same can be said for the insurance coverage they carry. A standard CGL policy may be missing a very important coverage component that an artisan/subcontractor should not go without.

RLI offers a broad portfolio program that combines the following coverages into one policy:

- Commercial General Liability
- Marine Watercraft Repairer Liability
- Marine Tools and Equipment with additional options for Inventory/Supplies and Office Fixtures/Furniture

EFFICIENT PROCESSING AND ONLINE CAPABILITIES

Our online capabilities make processing this business more efficient and more profitable to you due to increased commissions when the account qualifies for the program.
